Working Through the Winter

While the cold has slowed us down, we haven't stopped trying to reach students and connect with them! Besides our online Bible study options, Intentional Relationships group, and prayer times, we are safely connecting with the brave few students who are willing to venture outside. We have gone sledding, ice skating, and tomorrow have a snowball fight scheduled. I love the chance to talk with both students and staff in person and to see how people are handling the pandemic and life in general. These activities have also reminded me of my love for outdoor activities! I have started snowshoeing again and often drag Malik on a sled along the neighborhood sidewalks.

COMING OUT OF THE DEPTHS

Winter Conference report

With campuses still not doing a whole lot and our clubs being required to meet online, our winter conference was held virtually this year. Things ran so much smoother than they did for the fall conference! We learned from our mistakes, and our planning team was ready and prepared. Timotheus Pope from Summers Best Two Weeks Citikidz spoke on Nehemiah and, being the phenomenally gifted speaker that he is, he blew everyone away. Our elective classes were also well received, ranging from topics on how to deal with isolation to addressing mental health and faith. During free time, our local Rochester students went bowling! It was the first time in forever that I have attended an indoor event, but the turnout we had was pretty great! Everyone loved interacting with each other and just hanging out, including me. We are now planning on holding monthly one-day virtual retreats until we get through May.
